Several factors had an adverse impact on margins such as costs for the development of the in-house portfolio, average wind-yields and less supportive pricing effects than in Q1/22. Project activity remained high with 140.8MW in German projects under construction. The management has reiterated the EBITDA guidance of EUR 30-40m.

PNE's Q1/23 report was fully in line with our expectations. The P&L was still dominated by costs associated with the build-up of the in-house portfolio, which had a negative impact on EBIT of EUR -2.4m. In addition, pricing effects in the power generation business were less supportive than in Q1/22. However, the service segment grew further as a result of the extended offering in the context of PNE's scale-up 2.0 growth initiative. Project activity remains on very high levels as seen in strong construction activity and a growing project pipeline. Further project permits have been granted (67MW in Germany & 12MW in France) raising the visibility of future growth. The in-house portfolio has reached a size of 349.5MW and several projects, intended to be added to the portfolio, are under construction or prepared to start construction soon (178.5MW).

The guidance for FY 2023 has been reiterated (EUR 30-40m EBITDA) taking several uncertainties into consideration such as the margin contribution from international project sales, fluctuating wind yields and costs for in-house developments. However, several international projects are ready to be sold and, as the performance of the power generation segment was strong in Q1, our estimates remain at the upper end of the guidance. If PNE executes the sale of its US business in 2023, we would expect the additional income to trigger a guidance-increase.

Accelerating portfolio growth: Backed by an increasing number of project permits, PNE's portfolio growth has accelerated in recent years. Including the projects under construction, the in-house capacity is already ahead of PNE's 2023 target of 500 MW and on track to reach >1.5GW by 2027. The P&L is still dominated by the portfolio's depreciation, development and financing costs but in 2026, at the latest, the margin contribution from power generation should surpass costs and result in a positive net income.

Pipeline growth supports upbeat outlook: Following up on previous quarters, PNE has expanded its project pipeline to 13.8GW/GWp, despite several project sales and capacity additions. In addition, permission has been granted for several projects, improving the pipeline's quality and laying a solid foundation for PNE's 2027 targets. As soon as the supply bottleneck for parts eases, we expect international project sales to gain more traction, which would be supportive for PNE's margin generation and would represent upside to our current estimates.

DISCLOSURE ACCORDING TO §85 OF THE GERMAN SECURITIES TRADING ACT (WPHG), MAR AND MIFID II INCL. COMMISSION DELEGATED REGULATION (EU) 2016/958 AND (EU) 2017/565

The valuation underlying the investment recommendation for the company analysed here is based on generally accepted and widely used methods of fundamental analysis, such as e.g. DCF Model, Free Cash Flow Value Potential, NAV, Peer Group Comparison or Sum of the Parts Model (see also <http://www.mmwarburg.de/disclaimer/disclaimer.htm#Valuation>). The result of this fundamental valuation is modified to take into consideration the analyst's assessment as regards the expected development of investor sentiment and its impact on the share price.

Independent of the applied valuation methods, there is the risk that the price target will not be met, for instance because of unforeseen changes in demand for the company's products, changes in management, technology, economic development, interest rate development, operating and/or material costs, competitive pressure, supervisory law, exchange rate, tax rate etc. For investments in foreign markets and instruments there are further risks, generally based on exchange rate changes or changes in political and social conditions.

This commentary reflects the opinion of the relevant author at the point in time of its compilation. A change in the fundamental factors underlying the valuation can mean that the valuation is subsequently no longer accurate. Whether, or in what time frame, an update of this commentary follows is not determined in advance.

Additional internal and organisational arrangements to prevent or to deal with conflicts of interest have been implemented. Among these are the spatial separation of Warburg Research GmbH from M.M.Warburg & CO (AG & Co.) KGaA and the creation of areas of confidentiality. This prevents the exchange of information, which could form the basis of conflicts of interest for Warburg Research GmbH in terms of the analysed issuers or their financial instruments.

The analysts of Warburg Research GmbH do not receive a gratuity – directly or indirectly – from the investment banking activities of M.M.Warburg & CO (AG & Co.) KGaA or of any company within the Warburg-Group.

All prices of financial instruments given in this investment recommendation are the closing prices on the last stock-market trading day before the publication date stated, unless another point in time is explicitly stated.

M.M.Warburg & CO (AG & Co.) KGaA and Warburg Research GmbH are subject to the supervision of the Federal Financial Supervisory Authority, BaFin. M.M.Warburg & CO (AG & Co.) KGaA is additionally subject to the supervision of the European Central Bank (ECB).
